Mission Statement

The Governor's Grants Program values Kansans living in healthy communities, where they can grow, learn, feel safe, and thrive economically. The Program strives to remove obstacles in Kansas communities, neighborhoods, schools, businesses, and homes to ensure the safety and security of all Kansans. By administering federal and state grants to units of state and local government, Native American tribes, nonprofit, community and faith-based organizations throughout the state, the program aims to enhance the criminal justice system, improve public safety, and support crime victim services and drug and violence prevention programs throughout Kansas.

Values Statement - The program is dedicated to ensuring a S.A.F.E. Kansas where:

- Services are available and accessible in every community;
- Accountability for systems, agencies, and services is addressed;
- Funding is provided for adequate resources; and
- Empowerment of individuals is encouraged.

In addition, the Governor's Grants Program staffed the following boards and councils during State Fiscal Year (SFY) 2014:

- Kansas Criminal Justice Coordinating Council
- Governor's Domestic Violence Fatality Review Board
- Governor's Advisory Council on Domestic Violence Training
- State Victim Assistance Academy Steering Committee

Kansas Criminal Justice Coordinating Council

The Kansas Criminal Justice Coordinating Council (KCJCC) was created in 1994 by the Kansas Legislature (K.S.A. 74-9501 et seq.) to define and analyze issues and processes in the criminal justice system, identify alternative solutions, and make recommendations for improvement. The KCJCC also directs the development and management of the criminal justice information system.

The Council provides the oversight of the criminal justice funding available to the state from the U. S. Department of Justice, Bureau of Justice Assistance. The KCJCC is charged with developing the Kansas strategy, prioritizing purpose areas for funding, and determining grant awards. With the Council members' expertise and knowledge, the KCJCC has developed strategies and approaches to prevent, as well as control, violent and drug-related crimes.

KCJCC members are statutorily appointed and consist of the Governor or designee, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court or designee, the Attorney General or designee, the Secretary of Corrections, the Superintendent of the Highway Patrol, the Commissioner of the Juvenile Justice Authority, and the Director of the Kansas Bureau of Investigation. More information on the KCJCC can be found online at <http://grants.ks.gov/boards-councils-and-initiatives>.

Governor's Domestic Violence Fatality Review Board

In October 2004, former Governor Kathleen Sebelius signed executive order 04-11 establishing the 14-member Governor's Domestic Violence Fatality Review Board (FRB). The FRB is charged with reviewing all adult domestic violence-related fatalities in Kansas, describing trends and patterns regarding the facts and circumstances of these fatalities, recommending improvements to prevent future fatalities, and determining if adequate resources and trainings are in place for those who respond to domestic violence crimes.

Judge Harold Flaigle chairs the FRB. Current FRB members include Dave Warry, Kansas Law Enforcement Training Center; Steven Halley, Family Peace Initiative; Joyce Grover, Kansas Coalition Against Sexual & Domestic Violence; Vicki Meyer, Unified Government of Wyandotte County Legal Department; Deborah Moody, Douglas County District Attorney's Office; Janice Norlin, Private Attorney; Mark Malick, Kansas Bureau of Investigation; Curt Brungardt, Jana's Campaign; Paula Taylor, Newman Regional Health. Audrey Cress, Kansas Department of Corrections serves as an advisory member. Debi Holcomb serves as staff for the FRB. More information about the FRB's findings and recommendations can be found online at <http://grants.ks.gov/boards-councils-and-initiatives>.

Federal Grants to Encourage Arrest and Enforcement of Protection Orders Program (GTEAP)

The Governor's Office partnered with the Kansas Coalition Against Sexual and Domestic Violence, Kansas Law Enforcement Training Center, the Kansas Attorney General's Office, the Kansas Office of Judicial Administration, the Kansas Department of Corrections, and many local agencies to form the Governor's Advisory Council on Domestic Violence Training. The Council is tasked with creating comprehensive training curricula for professionals in the criminal justice system who respond to domestic violence and sexual assault. The purpose of the training project is to infuse Kansas with a consistent, coordinated response to domestic and sexual violence from the time of a 911 call reporting an incident, through the investigation, arrest, prosecution, probation or parole and release of offenders. This training effort is funded through a Federal Grant to Encourage Arrest Policies and Enforcement of Protection Orders Program (GTEAP) by the Office on Violence Against Women, U.S. Department of Justice. In SFY 2014 the Council finished enhancements to the domestic violence curricula for each of the following professions: communication specialists, law enforcement, community-based advocates, system-based advocates. The curricula were approved by OVW. Regional professionals in each field were selected to attend a training of the trainer event. These trainers began instructing professionals across the state beginning in July. Additional project accomplishments for SFY 2014 include domestic violence training of ten judges by the National Judicial Institute, domestic violence training of 443 victim service and criminal justice professionals, and completion of a domestic violence screening tool for use in the Registration and Diagnostic Unit of the Kansas prison system to refer offenders to appropriate programming.

Federal State Victim Assistance Academy (SVAA)

In 2011, a State Victim Assistance Academy (SVAA) Committee was formed to update the Governor's B.A.S.I.K. (Building Advocacy Skills, Information, and Knowledge) Training materials and training techniques. B.A.S.I.K. began in 2002 and was a skills-based training with a goal of providing victim service providers with a basic understanding of victim issues and resources available in the state. The SVAA Committee includes state and local stakeholders, as well as a partnership with Washburn University. The committee applied for federal funding to assist with the curriculum enhancements and to assist with providing multiple training events to eliminate a full waiting list.

In 2012, the Governor's Grants Program received the SVAA grant from the U.S. Department of Justice, Office for Victims of Crime (OVC). In SFY 2014 the committee developed a blended learning curriculum with an emphasis on skill practice and trauma-informed care, developed evaluation tools, and selected a diverse faculty from the field who attended a training of the trainer event. The curriculum was approved by OVC and accepted by Washburn University for three hours of undergraduate and graduate academic credit. The inaugural academies took place in July and September.

Inspiration from the Community

“...our mobile model of delivery which allows the WKCAC to have the impact of 27 Child Advocacy Centers if we figured having a center in each county. This truly makes a difference in the lives of the children in rural communities, all the while saving tax dollars. That being said, it requires significant funding to deliver these valuable services to 1/3 of the state of Kansas. Over 120,000 miles were traveled by staff either in one of the Mobile Units or personal vehicles to deliver services this past year. If grant funds diminished, it would be difficult if not impossible to continue to serve this vulnerable rural population.”

FEDERAL FAMILY VIOLENCE PREVENTION AND SERVICES ACT (FVPSA) JULY 1, 2013—JUNE 30, 2014

The Federal Family Violence Prevention and Services Act Grant Program (FVPSA) provided $1,059,041 in grant awards to 22 domestic violence programs in Kansas. The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services provides funding for this grant.

FVPSA funds pay for support group activities for women and children, child care, prevention education in schools and communities, information and referral services, advocacy in obtaining protection from abuse and stalking orders, court accompaniment, outreach into rural counties, etc. One of these priorities is ensuring services are provided 24-hours-a-day, seven-days-a-week and free to domestic violence victims and their children. Many programs provide outreach services in the rural counties. Services range from safe homes, support groups, crisis intervention, court accompaniment, and transportation.

Kansas domestic violence programs make every effort to reach those who are underserved. Many of the programs have volunteers and staff of different ethnic, racial, cultural, and language diversities in order to meet the needs of victims and their children. Shelter facilities are accessible to those who have physical disabilities or an alternative safe shelter is provided. Volunteers in the rural isolated areas provide transportation. Many programs also provide access to toll-free numbers for victims. In addition, Kansas has a toll-free number to assist local programs with AT&T interpreter services, 888-END-ABUSE.

Inspiration from the Community

“FVPSA funds have been instrumental in affording our organization the opportunity to provide intimate partner violence victims with a seasoned Victim Advocate who effectively and empathetically addresses the myriad of challenges victims oftentimes face. DVACK’s Victim Advocate has over thirteen years of experience in the field and, due to FVPSA funds, has extensive training on domestic violence, dating violence and family violence. This position is critical in providing specialized services to victims and their children in North Central Kansas.”

“Kansas Big Brothers Big Sisters utilized JAG funding to support the Mentoring Children of Promise (MCP) program. The MCP program provides mentors to children with an incarcerated parent. According to the Texas Department of Justice, children of incarcerated parents are five times more likely than their peers to commit crimes and 70 percent of those children will become imprisoned at some point in their lives. The program supported 758 MCP matches to help break the cycle of incarceration for these children.”

“Funding from the SASP program has allowed us to offer the services of a licensed therapist to victim/survivors of sexual assault and abuse. We were not able to offer that level of expertise for our clients before this funding was available. This is important because victims of sexual assault and abuse experience a level of trauma that is often difficult to overcome without the assistance of a trained therapist. Many victims go on with life as though nothing has happened for a while, but when the incident starts to interfere with life and emotions start to bubble up, professional help is vital. Family members, and especially intimate partners, are often exactly the wrong people to talk to. For this reason, being able to provide a therapist who has experience in working with post-traumatic stress disorder and other anxiety disorders has been a great benefit to our clients. We did not have this capability before SASP funding was available to our agency.”

“Earlier this year, an anxious young man waited in the Visitation and Exchange Center lobby. It had been over a year since the last time he had seen his daughter. As the worker collected payment from him, he was tearful about having visits. When his 3-year-old daughter arrived, the young man began to cry. He picked her up, and gave her a hug and kiss. As the weeks went by, there was a noticeable increase in the natural affection shown between the child and the father. By the end of their visit, they were mutually initiating hugs and kisses and telling each other, “I love you”. After seven visits, the family returned to court and was able to resolve the situation and come to an amicable agreement. Both parties informed staff of the change and agreed to one last visit at the VEC so they may provide staff with the updated court order. At the final visit he expressed his excitement about the visitation changes. Upon the end of the visit he told his daughter, “I love you; I will see you Tuesday.” We understand that not all families are able to agree on a happy ending, but stories such as these keeps us hopeful and optimistic about the futures of every client that walks through our doors.”

STATE GENERAL FUND (SGF) JULY 1, 2013—JUNE 30, 2014

The State General Fund (SGF) provides funds to support services for domestic violence prevention grants. These funds are used as matching funds for federal formula grant requirements to support sexual and domestic violence services and to enhance services to underserved areas of the state.

Twenty-seven grant projects were awarded $4,162,022 to assist in ensuring that funds are available for community-based sexual and domestic violence services. Crime victims and their children are best served when they can maintain jobs, stay in schools, keep family connections and other community ties while receiving safe services. Inspiration from the Community

“As SAFEHOME is the only domestic violence service agency in the state or metro area that employs an on-site, full-time attorney, she often consults with and fields referrals from other domestic violence agencies and concerned professionals. SAFEHOME’s Attorney relayed an encounter she recently had with a young victim of domestic violence. She was alerted by the County Court Volunteer to the situation of a youth who needed protection because of “bad things” done to her. She had been sexually and physically traumatized and was having a difficult time talking about it. In true collaboration, the volunteer and staff Attorney worked together and were able to obtain a final Order of Protection without having to put the youth on the stand as a witness. Another victim seen by the District Court Advocate came to an Information Session with a long history of traumatic injury from her abuser. The most recent incident was just one of a long stream of violent behavior. Last year this victim was battered and raped by her abuser. She was stabbed and burned. The recent incident involved the abuser hitting the victim and causing bruising to her arms and swelling to her lips and mouth. By the time the victim got to court, she was so traumatized she could barely write her name. The advocate worked with her to help her gain access to SAFEHOME’s shelter for herself and her child. The advocate gently spoke with her about the court process and acknowledged the severe trauma this woman was experiencing. The charging attorney in this case was co concerned about this victim that she had requested a police escort for the victim to get safely to the court house. The Prosecutor told the District Court Advocate, “In all the years I’ve been here, this is one of the worse cases I have seen. I truly think if she is not protected he will kill her.” SAFEHOME is most appreciative for the STOP Program funding which helps make it possible for our District Court Advocate and Staff Attorney to offer potentially life-saving assistance to hundreds of victims like these each year.”

FEDERAL VICTIMS OF CRIME ACT VICTIM ASSISTANCE GRANT PROGRAM (VOCA) OCTOBER 1, 2013—SEPTEMBER 30, 2014

The Federal Victims of Crime Act Victim Assistance (VOCA) grant program provides direct services to crime victims to respond to their emotional and physical needs; assists primary and secondary crime victims in stabilizing their lives after a victimization; assists victims in understanding and participating in the criminal justice system; and provides crime victims with a measure of safety. Priority is given to sexual assault, domestic violence, child abuse and underserved victims. The U.S. Department of Justice, Office for Victims of Crime provides funding for this grant.

Fifty-three grant projects were awarded a total of $3,830,197.

Inspiration from the Community

“An advocate had been meeting with a domestic violence survivor who had also been staying at the local in-patient treatment facility for drug and alcohol addiction. They worked together on employment, relocation and custody rights. The final day the advocate met with the survivor, the survivor reported that she had four interviews lined up for her in her new town and had been told by the judge the day before that she would be getting her children back before December. She told the advocate over and over again how much The Willow’s help had meant to her and she’d call when she got her kids back. She was more than hopeful -- she said that she truly felt that she was worth it and couldn’t wait to be the best mom she could be. This is a powerful story tied directly to VOCA fund use at The Willow. Without these funds, direct services would not be as accessible to survivors residing in the community as it currently is. They would not receive the amount and/or quality of services that truly are designed to ‘wrap around’ them and support and aid them through a very dangerous time. As The Willow partners with more and more agencies and brings services to survivors outside of the shelter home setting, it is imperative that advocates be able to meet survivors where they are at, literally and figuratively.”

- The Willow Domestic Violence Center

In 2014, VOCA-funded grant projects provided services to 28,801 victims of child physical and sexual abuse, DUI/DWI crashes, domestic violence, adult sexual assault, elder abuse, adults molested as children, homicide family survivors, robbery, assault and aggravated battery/criminal threat. The projects provided assistance with protection from abuse and stalking orders, sexual assault exams and interviews, information and referral mailings, transportation, community outreach, crisis counseling, follow-up support, group treatment and support, shelter, criminal justice support and advocacy, emergency legal advocacy, assistance in filing compensation and information and referrals.
